Description

"Sunny Window builds on the perspective of the inspectors who used to inspect the fabrics in the Cloth Hall. The leaf-shaped samples are reflected in hundreds of organza pieces that have been incorporated into this light object.

Nowadays everyone is a judge of everything. On social media, people tumble over each other with judgments and grumblings. But there are always different sides to a situation and you have to look more closely to discover them. That's why I made two different canvases. Both sides are different and together they give a sunny perspective."
